

Fiona Clarke

BDS, MSc, PhD, MA (Clinical Education)

Fiona obtained her BDS degree in South Africa, followed by an MSc in Oral Pathology from Queen Mary Barts and the London School of Medicine and Dentistry and a PhD on the genetic analysis of patients with aggressive Periodontitis. She completed her Masters in Clinical Education, at Kings College London researching the development of clinical expertise.

Most of her teaching and clinical practice is in the field of periodontology, focusing on communication and a team approach to periodontal care. Fiona is one of the U.Ks most sought after experts in dental education, particularly in the use of information technology to enhance learning of clinical techniques.

She is currently director of Atlas Education and a part-time clinical lecturer in Periodontology at Queen Mary Barts and the London.

www.atlaseducation.co.uk

Fiona has co-authored and contributed educational and clinical input to numerous Atlas CPD modules.