

Kate Young

LLB (honours)

Kate has over 10 years of family law experience, working with both public and private sector clients. She is a Resolution-accredited expert in children law and domestic abuse, and has delivered training to social workers and teachers on these topics. Kate is a member of the Law Society's Children Panel, and is qualified to deliver training to adults through her PTLLS qualification.

As a qualified solicitor, Kate can provide expert guidance to clients. In addition to delivering domestic abuse, child protection and safeguarding courses in the North of England, Kate is also happy to discuss new projects and develop bespoke solutions according to clients needs. Consultancy and training can be delivered anywhere in the UK.
